Terms: $1.50 a Year in Advance.

Issued every Friday evening by

Entered at the Monterey postoffice as second class matter.
MONTEREY, VA. Friday Jan. 27 1893

The republicans of the Senate have apparently adopted a sort of go-as-you-please pace. Two attempts have been made within the last week by means of caucuses, to get them together, but they were both failures. The most of them appear to wish to avoid doing anything, aside from some special bill in which they are interested, and to be unable to interest a sufficient number of their colleagues in any one measure to get it endorsed by a caucus. Having given up the silver question entirely they will this week caucus on the admission of new States. When the results of the last election are considered the republicans are excusable for being slightly demoralized.

Much curiosity is felt concerning the answer that Secretary Foster will make to Representative Scott's resolution which has been adopted by the House, calling for information as to the delay in the erection of public buildings for which the money has been appropriated by Congress. Mr. Scott says he is satisfied that the delay has been caused by the lack of money in the Treasury, and the facts are all apparently with him; but it is hardly probable that the wily Secretary of the Treasury will admit that.

The favorable report to the House on the bill repealing all federal election laws contains some very strong language, but, as the report truthfully says, "these laws are a continued menace to the welfare and peace of the country," and nothing said against them can be too strong. The House will pass this bill, not with any expectation that it can get through the Senate at this session, but to emphasize the position of the democratic party against these laws.

The alarming statement is made that what is known as "winter cholera" has made its appearance in the Wyoming mining towns. The population of these towns is very largely made up of what is known as foreign contract laborers from the Southern States of Europe. Their mode of living is surprisingly unclean and their condition in every way invites the invasion of infectious disease. Winter cholera is not an unusual disease, but when eminent physicians will not venture to say that it may not be the precursor of the dreaded Asiatic scourge, the outbreak should receive the promptest attention and have applied the most vigorous measures.

"The Carlisle tariff bill." How does that strike you as a popular title for the democratic tariff bill which is to be passed by the Fifty-third Congress? Unless a number of gentlemen who are in positions to know are wrong in their calculations Senator Carlisle, whose resignation as Senator will take place the fourth of next month, is the man who will frame that bill. The great success of the Walker tariff bill, framed by President Polk's Secretary of the Treasury, was it is said, what induced Mr. Cleveland to follow the same plan and entrust the framing of a tariff bill which is to be strictly in accord with democratic ideas, to his Secretary of the Treasury. It is not to be understood or inferred that this move is intended to deprive the Ways and Means Committee of the next House of any of its rights.

Senator Wolcott has been having some fun at the expense of the Postmaster-General. He doesn't like the Columbus stamps, and Saturday he made a humorous speech in favor of his joint resolution directing the Postmaster General to stop the sale of them, and he raised a laugh by saying that he had a letter from a physician who said that if the sale of these stamps was stopped the stock on hand might be utilized as chest protectors. He intimated in relation to Mr. Wanamaker's statement that $1,500,000 profit would be realized from the sale of these stamps to collectors that this Government was too big to go into the chronograph business, a business that might do for some little Central American State, that was a few thousand dollars "shy."

Death of Justice Lamar.

Justice Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus Lamar of the United States supreme court died Monday night at Macon, Ga. Mr. Lamar was noted in Washington where the best years of his life were spent, for his absentmindedness and eccentricities, no less than for his genial nature and charming manners.

Like his personality, his public career was remarkable. He comes of one of the oldest families in Georgia. He was born in Putnam county in 1825, and after his father's deplorable death was taken to Oxford, Miss., where his education may be said to have begun. After acquiring all that was to be learned in the Oxford schools young Lamar was sent to Emory College in Georgia. He graduated in 1845, at once commenced the study of law in Macon Georgia, and was admitted to the bar two years later.

In 1876 was chosen by the legislature as one of the representatives of his adopted State in the United States senate. He remained in the senate until March 4th, 1885, when he accepted the portfolio of Secretary of the Interior tendered him by President Cleveland. On Dec. 6, 1886, Mr. Cleveland sent to the senate the name of J. C. Q. Lamar to be associate justice of the United States supreme court, vice Judge Woods deceased. After some delay the nomination was confirmed and in the latter part of January, 1888, he entered upon the discharge of his new duties.

Chained in a Barn.

RADFORD, VA., January 18.—The wife of A. W. Fille, who came here from Illinois recently, was found chained in a deserted barn near this town yesterday. Fille had spread the story that the woman was insane and would soon be sent to the asylum. She proved to be perfectly sane. It is supposed that Fille and the woman who posed as his housekeeper were trying to put Mrs. Fille out of the way. Fille is under arrest. The jail is heavily guarded as there is danger of lynching.

An old criminal was asked what was the first step that led to his ruin, when he answered: "The first step was cheating an editor out of his subscription. When I had done that, the Devil had got such a grip on me that I never could shake him off."

A Child's Timely Warning.

NEWARK, O., January 18.—"Papa put flower in your medicine," was this remark that led to S. A. Fitzgerald's arrest here for attempting to poison his wife. The lady was sick and Fitzgerald placed arsenic in her medicine. His little son saw him, and when his mother became very ill told, in his innocence, that papa had put flower in the stuff. The woman says Fitzgerald has threatened to kill her.

An Electric Room.

There is now being arranged in the Department of Electricity what promises to be to many the most interesting exhibit of the entire electrical display. It is a room representing an apartment in a modern dwelling house, in which hundreds of novel electric appliances will be in use.

The doors of the room will swing on noiseless hinges and can be opened or closed by a person within the room by the simple pressure of a button. The lights will, of course, be furnished by the incandescent system.

The heat will be furnished by electricity, and that subtle fluid will be used to cook all sorts of food. On a table will stand cans in which coffee and tea will be kept constantly warm by means of a coil of wire underneath. This table will be arranged as for a dining-room, and electric waiters will carry food and drink to the guests. An electric dumb waiter will also be used to carry away the dishes after the guests are through with them.

By the pressure of a button the dining table will be caused to sink through the floor and in its place will appear a centre table with flowers, books, papers, etc., upon it. In one end of the room will be a sewing machine which will be run by electricity. At the opposite side of the room a cradle will be rocked by the current's pulses.

He Should Hang.

The Supreme Court of New York has confirmed the decision of the lower court, sentencing Carlisle W. Harris to death. It is not supposed that Governor Flower will interfere, as the young man is without any excuse for his deliberate crime. He was a medical student in New York. While there he won the heart of a school girl. It was his boast that he had wronged other girls and he proceeded to wrong this one. Then, in time, he tired of her and his little knowledge of medicine enabled him to slowly but surely put her out of the way. It is true the fellow is young—not more than twenty-five years of age—but that cannot be used in his behalf. If at twenty-five he is such a villain, what would he be at fifty? The evidence in Harris' case given by many witnesses shows that it was "fun" to deceive, that it was smart and a subject for brag. He trusted the power of money to accomplish anything in this world his acquittal included. The halter is a becoming necktie for such men.

Savannah's Joy.

SAVANNAH, GA., January 18.—Snow began to fall here at 8:30 this morning. At 11 o'clock it was still coming down furiously. If it keeps snowing there will be four to six inches by night. Snow balling is in progress in the business section. Nothing like it was ever seen here before. All the Cotton Exchange members and one-half of the business men in town, young and old, are in a snow battle.

A Leper in Iowa.

MARSHALLTOWN, IOWA, January 18.—Mrs. A. F. Wood, wife of a prominent pioneer citizen of Madison county, has just died at Union of what is said to have been leprosy in the most malignant form. Her fingers, toes and portions of her lower limbs were eaten away by the ravages of the terrible disease.

The election of Messrs. Faulkner and Camden both to the United States Senate is a happy solution of the difficulty that confronted the legislators of Virginia's youngest daughter. Both are thus returned to the Senate, and are thoroughly equipped to represent their State ably in this notable body. Thus the possibility of factional friction on account of the rival claims of these two gentlemen has been removed. The death of Mr. Kenna and the withdrawal of Mr. Chilton from the contest made this solution possible. Mr. Kenna's death was a loss to his State, but since it must come, it came opportunely for Messrs. Faulkner and Camden.

Rutherford B. Hayes.

Rutherford B. Hayes is dead. He served as President of the United States from March 1877 to March 1881, but since his retirement from office, he had led a quiet and unobtrusive life.

Mr. Tilden was elected President in 1876, but the democrats lost the fruit of their victory by not having backbone enough to assert their rights. The republicans fraudulently seated their candidate, Mr. Hayes, and while the fraud was the greatest ever perpetrated in the political history of this country, under the peculiar conditions existing at that time Mr. Hayes himself was not much blamed by the country at large, the wrath of the democrats having been taken out principally upon the 8 to 7 commission which perpetrated the crime.

But no matter what may have been thought of the manner of Mr. Hayes' election to the presidency, the Southern people had reason to feel kindly towards him. Mr. Hayes was a friend to the South, and did what he could to break up the vile reconstruction rule that was keeping our people down. He was a man of dignity but great simplicity of manner, and was singularly free from sectional prejudice.

The funeral of ex-President Hayes took place last Friday afternoon. His remains were buried in Oakwood cemetery beside those of his late wife.

THE POPULAR VOTE.—The total vote for presidential electors cast at the November election is now complete in all the States of the Union except Oregon, and because of some hitch in that State, her vote will not be corrected until the 5th of January. The Philadelphia Times states the result to be as follows for all of the candidates from which it will be seen that Mr. Cleveland's plurality over Harrison will exceed 410,000 under any circumstances.

The total vote cast was 12,081,635, of which the Cleveland electors received 5,246,227; Harrison, 5,126,418; Weaver, 1,255,842; Bidwell, prohibitionist, 202,386; and Wing, socialist labor, 21,702. Mr. Cleveland's plurality over President Harrison upon this vote is 418,869, which the official vote of Oregon will defeat by only a few thousands. The Cleveland plurality will exceed 410,000 under any circumstances, and this will not by any means represent the real democratic majority, as in several States the entire democratic vote went to the Weaver electors.

The prohibition vote must be a sore disappointment to the sincere leaders to that body of sincere voters. The total vote of 262,386 is only about 12,000 in advance of the prohibition vote of 1888, when about 250,000 votes were polled for the candidates of the cold water party. The increase was not even in proportion to the increase in the total vote. The prohibition party, failed even to hold its own.
